The document fails to deal adequately with recreational stakeholders who live outside the defined delta, including a substantial number of members of disadvantaged groupd.

The document fails to deal adequately with public rights to use the navigable water and the bed below high water mark, as opposed to use of designated recreational areas. The document fails to deal adequately with the right to fish on all state owned land and on formerly state-ownef land transferred out after November 8, 1910. The document fails to deal with the obligation to reserve convenient access upon the sale, lease or rental of state-owned lands .
