Subject: JUNE 2: Budgeting for Climate Resilience in California w/ Senator Bob Wieckowski

Dear DISB members:

I know that you have a lot on your plate, but I thought this briefing on the California Senate's bold $18 billion climate resilience proposal by Senator Bob Wieckowski might be of interest. Peter Drekmeier, the director of the Tuolumne River Trust, is part of our coalition.

Hi Folks,

Please join us for a Zoom webinar tomorrow from 12:30 - 1:30 on "Budgeting for Climate Resilience in California" hosted by SPUR. TRT will be a co-presenter.

The California State Senate has proposed spending a record $18 billion on climate change resilience this year, outstripping even the Governor's office in the scope and scale of their ambitions. The Bay Area's own Senator Bob Wieckowski, representing the 10th Senate District of southern Alameda and northern Santa Clara counties, has championed these efforts from his position as Chair of the Budget Subcommittee on Resources, Environmental Protection and Energy. Come hear Senator Wieckowski as he discusses the Senate's bold climate vision and how he and his colleagues are working to turn it into reality.
